

Telluric planets made of star-stuff

Vardan Adibekyan (vadibekyan@astro.up.pt)
Institute of Astrophysics and Space Sciences

C. Dorn, S. Sousa, N. Santos, B. Bitsch, G. Israelian, Ch. Mordasini, S. Barros, E. Delgado Mena, O. Demangeon, J. Faria, P. Figueira, A. Hakobyan, M. Oshagh, B. Soares, M. Kunitomo, Y. Takeda, E. Jofré, R. Petrucci, E. Martoli

Rocky planet composition depends on the chemical composition of the protoplanetary disk and contains signatures about planet formation processes.

Iron contents of rocky planets against the iron mass fraction of the protoplanetary disk, estimated from the host star abundances.

